1 BACKGROUND INFORMATION

1.1 Country overview

Brazil is the largest country in South America and the fifth largest nation in the world, with an estimated population of 213 372 000 million people (2021). It is a multiparty democratic federal republic with two legislative houses. The World Bank classifies Brazil as an upper middle-income country.

The nation's expanding cities, hydroelectric and industrial complexes, mines, and fertile farmlands make it one of the world's major economies. Nevertheless, the country struggles with social inequalities, degradation of the environment, and intermittent financial crises.

Before the COVID-19, Brazil was still recovering from 2015-2016 economic crisis. In this context about 50% of Brazilian population was below the poverty threshold, earning less than US$ 5,50 per day or is vulnerable to falling into poverty.¹ The crisis left 1,6 Million of Brazilian unemployed, according to IBGE². The entrepreneur rate was the lowest since 2008³, and the GENI index was the higher since the 1990s⁴.

Economic and social policies to combat the Corona crisis, resulted on the spending of 97,5 billion⁵, 82,2 billion through Social Security, and 15,3 billion on measures to promote employment and companies.⁶ In 2020, social security accounted a deficit disorder of 604,3 billion reais⁷.

The additional burden in the already burdened Brazilian Social Security System is clear. So are the high impacts of the crisis on the already fragile Brazilian economic scenario.

The expending was made possible by receiving loans from the World Bank, conditioned to austerity measures⁸. Also was financed by intern public endowment.

The vaccination campaign accelerated, and economic activity - strengthened by private consumption and investment - restarted as restrictions were lifted. Exports have benefited from the global recovery, the demand for commodities and a weak exchange rate. However, supply bottlenecks, lower purchasing power, higher interest rates and policy uncertainty have slowed the pace of recovery. The labour market is recovering with some delay and unemployment remains above pre-pandemic levels.

1.2 Sector situation

The Brazilian pension system is structured as follows: a public and mandatory pay-as-you-go (PAYG) system, also called the General Social Security Regime (RGPS). It is operated by the National Social Security Institute.

Public sector employees are covered by multiple pension regimes at different government levels, pooled into the Regimes Próprios de Previdência Social (RPPS).

In 2019, the Constitutional Amendment 103 was published, which meant a major retraction of the RGPS and the RPPS.

Regarding to the RGPS, i) the benefits amount should decrease, as the calculation method was changed from 80% of best monthly earnings to 80% of the entire contribution life; ii) to reach the full amount of the benefit one should contribute for at least 40 years and reach the age of 65; and iii) There are stricter rules to be entitled to the benefits.

Concerning to the RPPS, the reform changed the rules for civil servants' pension provisions, which first pillar will, from there on, be attending to the general regime low ceiling threshold.

Also, a second pillar for Civil Servants was strengthened, being such workers automatically enrolled in occupational funds publicly sponsored in an "opt out" basis.

The Private Pension Regime, or voluntary pension plans has a long history in Brazil and the country has the oldest system in Latin America. Under the Regime de Previdência Complementar (RPC), both occupational and personal pensions are provided on a voluntary basis.

Closed private pension entities are non-profit organizations that can be established on a single-employer or multi-employer basis and by labour unions. The accumulated assets are legally separated from the sponsoring undertaking. In addition, authorised financial institutions provide complementary pension provision through open private pension entities.

The regulatory environment for open and closed private pension entities differs. The State Secretariat for Pension Funds supervises closed funds regarding governance, disclosure, investment, and fees. The National Board of Complementary Pensions, linked to the Ministry of Economy, makes regulatory decisions. The supervision of open private pension entities is carried out by the Superintendence of Private Insurance (linked to the Ministry of Finance). The current regulatory and supervisory bodies of occupational funds – National Superintendence of Complementary Pension – PREVIC and National Monetary Council – CMN do not have autonomy in relation to the federal government.

7,387,908 Brazilians are participants, assisted or pensioners enrolled (voluntarily) in occupational pension funds. Despite the amount of assets invested through the sector, the Brazilian pension system is going through a crisis of underfunding.

In December 2020, the Brazilian occupational pension system held R$ 1.011 trillion in assets, corresponding to 14.1% of the GDP. Nevertheless, the overall coverage rate of complementary pension provision remains low.

The financial burden on participants caused by the underfunding crisis is eating away at pension adequacy, which undermines the sector's reliability.

1.3 Role of partner institution in the sector

ACEA is an associative class entity, a private legal entity, which represents members from 22 states in Brazil. ACEA's vision is that all participants in occupational pension funds have the right to know the management of their assets and to have their benefits guaranteed in full compliance with statutory, regulatory, legal and constitutional standards.

The institutional objective is to bring together retired bank officers and pensioners in defence of their legitimate interests, coordinate the issues of interest of the retirees and pensioners it represents, promote clarification on the problems of members and pensioners to support their legitimate claims, represent their judicial members and extrajudicially, relating to other entities of associative, union and social movements, as a way to encourage the exercise of citizenship by its members, as consumers, users of public services, contractors of private services.

ACEA also acts as a defender of rights related to the protection of public and social assets, the economic order and free competition. In the national framework, the entity's mission is to act with the political bodies of the executive and legislative in order to obtain improvements in the laws, regulations and public policies of the second pillar, as a means to guarantee the retirement income of its members. To this end, the entity constantly monitors the private occupational social security system, acting to assess the correctness of compliance with social and social security rights provided for in the Federal Constitution, checking the constitutionality or not of the legislation that involves the matter, compliance or not of federal legislation, as well as the adequacy of the Private Occupational Social Security Policy and of the governance criteria put into practice, given the fundamental rights and guarantees, social rights, and constitutional objectives of the republic, to international legislation concerning Human Rights, and, also, to the federal legislation in force.

ACEA carries out continuous inspection of the pension funds of the class it represents, measuring the fund's obligations towards its participants and pensioners, including the measurement of the funds' actuarial obligations.

ACEA verifies the adequacy of the investment policy to the fund's obligations in order to guarantee the proper funding of pensions, evaluates the adequacy of the governance policy in preventing conflicts of interest and acts of corruption in the management of the members' assets, the fulfilment of fiduciary duties, transparency and honesty duties of asset managers.

ACEA informs its members, denouncing non-compliance with rights by the State, fund managers and the sponsor, promotes administrative and judicial actions when non-compliance with the Law, the Federal Constitution and the regulations governing the Brazilian private occupational pension scheme are identified.

ABOUT SOCIEUX+

The European Union (EU) promotes and maintains dialogue on social protection and inclusive employment policies with an increasing number of partner countries. This effort has been confirmed by the European Commission (EC) Communication COM (2016) 740 final - "Proposal for a new European Consensus on Development, entitled Our world, our dignity, our future. A significant number of cooperation initiatives in these fields are funded by geographic or thematic instruments of the EU in different countries. Those initiatives are highly structured and address the medium- to long-term needs of partner countries. However, short-term measures and peer-to-peer cooperation to promote the development of social protection systems are needed to complement the EU's cooperation with third countries. SOCIEUX+ - EU Expert Facility on Employment, Labour and Social Protection responds to this need.

The SOCIEUX+ facility was setup by the EU through co-funding from France, Spain and Belgium and the resources managed by the European Commission's Directorate for Development and Cooperation (EuropeAid). The facility is implemented by a partnership composed of development cooperation agencies from Member States: Expertise France (the partnership lead), Fundación Internacional y para Iberoamérica de Administración y Políticas Públicas (FIIAPP) from Spain, Belgian International Cooperation on Social Protection (BELINCOSOC), and the Belgian Development Agency (Enabel).

The general objective of the Facility is to expand and improve access to better employment opportunities and inclusive social protection systems in partner countries. Its specific objective is to enhance the capacities of partner countries to better design, manage and monitor inclusive, effective, and sustainable employment strategies and social protection systems through short-term, peer-to-peer technical assistance and knowledge development.

SOCIEUX+ recognises the impact of social protection and employment in reducing poverty and vulnerability. It supports the efforts of partner governments in promoting inclusive and sustainable social protection and employment systems. SOCIEUX+ also complements the efforts made through other European Union initiatives.

The Facility is an expansion of SOCIEUX Social Protection EU Expertise in Development Cooperation, established in 2013.
