1 BACKGROUND INFORMATION

1.1 Country overview

The Federal Republic of Nigeria is a multi-ethnic and culturally diverse federation of 36 autonomous states and the Federal Capital Territory. It's capital is Abuja. Total population is of roughly 200 million people, making it the most populous country in Africa. It represents nearly half of West Africa's population and it has one of the largest youth populations in the world (70% of the population is under the age of 30).

It is the largest economy in Sub-Saharan Africa, followed by South Africa¹. The country is highly dependent on oil, although revenues have declined in recent years. The agricultural sector and services are growing.

Nigeria's GDP is growing slower than its population due to the structure of the economy. In fact, economic growth is still too dependent of oil price fluctuation. Oil revenues contribute to two thirds of state revenues and 8.6 per cent of GDP. Between 2006 and 2015, Nigeria's GDP grew at an average of 5,7 per cent per year thanks to the oil price growth, and experimented a drastic decrease, above 2 per cent, following the resource price crash. Currently, others sectors, such as agriculture, which employs about half of the labour force and contributes to nearly a quarter of GDP, trade, mining and quarrying, manufacture and information and communication are other major economic sectors for national GDP.

The war against Boko Haram and other terrorist groups in the northeast has had a strong impact on the security landscape in the country since 2011.

Inflation is rising in the country especially following the world pandemic and is pushing millions of Nigerians into poverty.

Nigeria has made socio-economic progress in the recent years, however its human capital development ranked 150 out of 157 in the World Bank's 2020 Human Capital Index.

It's Human Development Index ranks at 0,535 which puts the country at the Low HD category, positioning it at 163 out of 191 countries and territories².

Edo State, where the partner institution, the Edo State Skills Development Agency is located in a South-South geopolitical zone of Nigeria; its population is about 8 million people in 2022.

1.2 Sector situation

Nigeria is not exempt from the global trend of rising unemployment. The rate at which the labour force is growing is faster than the rate of job creation. It's estimated that over 43% of the potential working population in Nigeria is either unemployed or underemployed³. Another specificity and challenge of the structure of labour market, is the very low labour productivity, especially in the agriculture sector and in the urban informal sector (trade).

Nigeria developed the National Action Plan on Employment Creation 2009-2020 which focused on the following aspects: promoting employment and income generation opportunities for youth and women through coherent policies on employment and economic growth, eliminating the worst forms of child labour through support for education and skills development, promoting good governance of labour migration, strengthening HIV prevention and social protection programmes in the world of work, combatting human trafficking and forced labour.

The ILO worked with Nigeria through the Decent Work Country Programme from 2015-2018. The ILO considers four strategic objectives of decent work which are: rights at work and international labour standards, employment and income opportunities, social protection and social security and tripartism. There are some challenges in Nigeria, mainly concerning job creation (incapacity of the economy to generate employment at the rate of rise of population), guarantees of rights at work (impossibility to unionize), extension of social protection, and promotion of social dialogue. The ILO CO- Abuja is supporting the Government of Nigeria through the Federal Ministry of Labour and Employment (FMLE) and the social partners to develop the country's third DWCP that spans from 2023 until 2027.

The GIZ works in Nigeria through the Skills Development for Youth Employment (SKYE) programme from 2018 until 2023 and focuses on promoting needs-based technical and vocational education and training and youth employment in Nigeria.

Unemployment in Nigeria does not only concern unskilled workers, but also highly skilled people including graduates of universities and of other institutions of higher learning.

The bulk of new employment in recent years in Nigeria has been in the informal economy, which entails precarious, poorly paid with few benefits and not covered by labour legislation or social protection. Recent estimates suggest that informal employment account for more than 80% of total non-agricultural employment in Nigeria⁴.

According to the Nigeria's unemployment figures released by the National Bureau of Statistics (NBS), the South-South geopolitical zone is the most affected region with 37.0% unemployment rate, followed by the South East with 29.1%, the North Central with 27.9%, the Northeast with 27.9%, North West with 26.3%, and the South West with 18.0%.

The report states that Nigeria's Unemployment Rate has risen from 27.1 per cent in the second quarter of 2020, to 33 per cent. Aside from making it the second Highest on Global List, the NBS report, going by analysis, shows that more than 60 per cent of Nigeria's working-age population is younger than 34.

Unemployment for people aged 15 to 24 stood at 53.4 per cent in the fourth quarter and at 37.2 per cent for people aged 25 to 34. The jobless rate for women was 35.2 per cent compared with 31.8 per cent for men.

According to the report, Edo state had the lowest unemployment in the region at 19.0% with a drop from 25.1%, underemployment stands at 34.9% with 376,734 residents recorded as unemployed and a total labour force of 1,985,765. Despite the positive change in the state, we still have a long way to go in tackling the issue of unemployment despite being on the right track.

The government which came into power in May 2015 put employment creation more specifically for youth at the center of its preoccupation.

The Edo State Government was also implied in creation of job opportunities for youth and fight against youth unemployment. The Edo State Skills Development Agency was set up to address the lack of skills and technical capacity amongst young people in the state to either start up their own business or get and retain jobs within and outside the state.

3 METHODOLOGY

3.1 General methodology (of the action)

The proposed action focuses on supporting the Partner Institution (Edo State Skills Development Agency) in improving services delivered to business creators and business owners in Edo State.

The Partner Institution is a public body set up by the government of Edo State in charge of regional economic development, including job creation and improvement of workers' skills. As part of its action, the Agency implements programs to support beneficiaries in establishing small enterprises, running and growing them. Another axis systematically taken into consideration is efficiency of actions implemented, a specific unit within the Partner institution responsible for such follow up. More than 180 thousand persons benefited from support of Edo Jobs in 5 years (all programmes).

As of today, one of the challenges faced by Micro, Small and Medium Enterprise (MSMEs) Unit of Edo Jobs is to ensure business formalization, increased access to market and finance by proper accompaniment of business owners. It implies formalized training modules for final beneficiaries and reinforced capacities of EdoJobs counsellors.

Within the action, first, the assessment of existing support provided by the Partner Institution will be conducted. This will include assessment of programmes and tools, as well as identification of gaps and needs in order to establish a roadmap. Then a coaching and mentorship guide for entrepreneurship development will be created and specific training sessions conducted for EdoJobs counsellors. Finally, monitoring and evaluation framework will be developed to ensure the follow up of efficiency of new tools together with M&E unit of Edojobs. This will also be an occasion to collect first feedback over practical implementation of new tools, as well as to propose adjustment if needed.

The whole action will be implemented online, no on-site mission is foreseen for safety reasons. Technical assistance from SOCIEUX+ will be complimentary to other development partners' actions, including GIZ that supported the formulation of the request. GIZ representatives on site kindly offered their support of the implementation of remote cooperation, accompanying and facilitation peer-to-peer remote work.

To ensure more efficient peer-to-peer work and better and more sustainable understanding between the experts and the Partner Institution, it is proposed that the same principal expert should be mobilized for the four activities.

3.2 Planned activities (work plan of the action)

The following activities are currently planned for the action:

- A. 1: Assessment of needs and build-up on the roadmap to improve services for business owners
- A. 2: Elaboration of Mentorship and coaching guide for entrepreneurship development
- A. 3: Training on better service provision for business owners
- A. 4: Post-training follow-up and creating monitoring and evaluation framework

The present terms of reference cover the services expected for activities of the above work plan:

- Activity 4.

3.3 Inclusion of cross-cutting issues

SOCIEUX+ recognises the importance to include cross-cutting issues in social protection, labour and employment policies and systems. The following cross-cutting issues are duly taken into account:

- Gender equality;
- Good governance;

- Human rights (including rights of children, people living with disabilities, vulnerable groups and minorities); and,
- Social and economic inclusion of vulnerable groups.
